

Join XClinical's growing business in the USA

XClinical is an international software vendor headquartered in Europe, founded in 2002. Our eClinical Software Solution, Marvin, comprises a CDISC-certified Electronic Data Capture system that integrates with numerous modules.

Our employees are experts in clinical research, project management, software development, data privacy and data security.

To grow our business in the USA we are looking for clinical data managers who would like to switch their career to business development, as well as from experienced business development managers with a proven track record in the EDC/IWRS/ePRO industry.

Key requirements:

- ⊗ Identify and qualify sales leads among CROs, Medical Device Manufacturers and Pharma/Biotech companies
- ⊗ Perform EDC/IWRS/ePRO/Coding/Reporting software demonstrations to potential customers
- ⊗ Generate quotes and proposals
- ⊗ Follow-up and negotiate deals

In our innovative, highly professional team, everybody can contribute his own personal qualifications and ideas. Our strong growth offers you an attractive, multi-faceted working environment with many opportunities for professional and personal development.

Please send your application to: career@xclinical.com

